D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

SECOND VOLUME OF

Memoirs Illustrating the History of Napoleon I.

From 1802 to By BARON CLAUDE-FRANÇOIS DE MÉNEVAL, Private Secretary to Napoleon.
Edited by his Grandson, BARON NAPOLEON JOSEPH DE MÉNEVAL. With portraits and autograph letters. In three volumes. 8vo, cloth, $2.00 per volume. Volume II. now ready.

The second volume deals with Napoleon's life between 1806 and 1812, the period of his ascendancy on the Continent. The victories of Jena and Wagram, the crushing of Prussia and Austria, the Austrian Alliance, crowned by the marriage of Marie Louise, the relations of Napoleon with the Czar Alexander, much that is interesting of Napoleon's personal habits and tastes, and the beginnings and fruition of his thoughts about divorce, are included in this volume, which closes with an explanation of the causes that led to the Russian war.

Occasional Sermons and Lectures.

By Rev. JOHN M. KIELY, Rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, Brooklyn, N. Y. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

In this volume, which possesses a timely and varied interest, Father Kiely presents a rare amount of suggestive information, discreetly and tersely expressed. The book will be welcomed in Christian homes, and prove of value to clergymen irrespective of creeds. "Church and State," "The Music of Ireland," "Holidays in Ireland, through Europe, and in Rome," and "The Late Poet-Laureate," are among the subjects treated by the author.

Dr. Janet of Harley Street.

By ARABELLA KENEALY, author of "Molly and Her Man-o'-War," etc. No. 147, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

"In 'Dr. Janet of Harley Street' Dr. Arabella Kenealy has shown that the art of writing lively fiction is not the least of her many accomplishments. Miss Kenealy has a quick sense of humor and a lively faculty of observation, and her style is vivid and effective."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"It is a clever book, and well worth reading. Miss Kenealy has imagined an interesting character, and realized her vividly."—London Chronicle.

The Purple Light of Love.

By HENRY GOELET MCVICKAR, author of "A Precious Trio," etc. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents.

A story of New York and Newport social life, most adroitly and cleverly told.

NOTES IN SEASON.

MERRILL & BAKER, New York City, are making a handsomely embellished inexpensive edition of the "Ruby Poets," in fifteen volumes.

O. DAVIE & Co. have just issued "Methods in the Art of Taxidermy," the text by Oliver Davie, who has made taxidermy his life study and profession; the illustrations by Dr. Theodore Jasper. The work is intended for all interested in the subject as well as professionals in the art of taxidermy.

D. APPLETON & Co. have just issued the second volume of Méneval's "Memoirs Illustrating the History of Napoleon I.," covering the years between 1806 and 1812, the period of Napoleon's ascendancy on the continent of Europe, and describing the victories of Jena and Wagram, the crushing of Prussia and Austria, the Austrian alliance, the marriage with Marie Louise, and dealing at length with the causes that led to the Russian war; and "Occasional Sermons and Lectures," by Rev. John M. Kiely, which will prove of value to all clergymen irrespective of creed. They also announce two new novels, "Dr. Janet of Harley Street," by Arabella Kenely, and "The Purple Light of Love," by Henry Goelet McVickar.

MACMILLAN & Co. have just ready a new book by John Ruskin, consisting of "Letters to a College Friend," written during the years 1840-1845, and containing many characteristic utterances, notably an essay on "Death before Adam Fell," two new volumes of the Palestine Exploration Fund, "A Mound of Many Cities," an account of the excavations of Tel el Hesi, by Frederick Jones Bliss, and "Judas Maccabæus and the Jewish War of Independence," by Claude Reignier Conder; Turgenev's "Rudin," translated from the Russian by Constantine Garnett, being the first volume of a new translation of the great Russian's works; and a third cheaper edition, with a new preface, of Benjamin Kidd's remarkable book, "Social Evolution." Among their recent publications are Ernest F. Henderson's "History of Germany in the Middle Ages," "Hints on Driving," by Captain C. Morley Knight, and "Aspects of Modern Study," a collection of university addresses by Lord Playfair, Canon Browne, Mr. Goschen, John Morley, Max Müller, the Duke of Argyle, and others.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CHICAGO, ILL.—A bill for receiver and an accounting against Alexander Belford, the publisher, has been filed in the Circuit Court here by the First National Bank of Miamisburg, O., judgment creditor of the defendant for $7586. Three notes amounting to $7402, the bill recites, were given by Belford to the George H. Friend Paper Co. and indorsed to the complainant. The notes are secured by $100,000 of the stock of the Werner Company, a printing and lithographic house. For the purpose of securing an accounting the Werner Company is made co-defendant. It is alleged that the $100,000 stock is not worth enough to satisfy the judgments.

FINDLAY, O.—D. C. Connell has bought back the book and stationery business which he sold last year to A. A. Paagle.

MAYFIELD, KY.—W. K. Gregory, bookseller, has sold out.

NEWTON, KAN.—J. H. Murphy & Brother, booksellers, have sold out.

NEW YORK CITY.—George Routledge's Sons have been incorporated to publish books and magazines in New York City; capital, $250,000, and directors: J. L. Blamire, C. N. Judson and Willis Fowler, of New York City; D. J. Winkelman, of Hoboken, N. J., and C. H. Wheeler, of Brooklyn.

NORTH MANCHESTER, IND.—M. W. Hoover, bookseller, is reported sold out.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

While in a petulant and morbid state of mind, induced by both real and imaginary troubles, Rebecca Meredith conceives the idea that she is out of place in her father's household. She leaves home, and tries to find her level; a disappointing experience discouraging her, she resorts to the "Wanted" column in the daily paper, by which means she finds her vocation, and becomes the heroine of a romantic love-story.

Alexander, Sigmund B. A moral blot: a novel. Bost., Arena Pub. Co., 1894. c. 5 +233 p. D. (Arena lib. ser., no. 39.) pap., 50 c.

The scene is Boston. Leo Ormsby, a successful artist and journalist, falls in love with a poor girl of irreproachable family and character, who returns his love. When the mother of the heroine is on her death-bed, she induces her daughter, Ormsby's betrothed, to marry a wealthier suitor; this leads Leo to cast his fortunes with a burlesque actress. Gives incidents of his unconventional life after he is brought into association with a woman of questionable record.

*Allsop, Robert Owen. Public baths and wash-houses. N. Y., E. & F. N. Spon & Chamberlain, 1894. 7+98 p. il. pl., 8°, cl., $2.50.

Contains the history in general of the European states from 1453 to 1789, giving a rapid sketch of European life in general, and of those momentous events which permit us to trace its progressive march. The author is one of the foremost contemporary French writers and was for years Minister of Public Instruction in France. The translator is professor of French in Amherst College. Chronological list of European potentates from 1453 to 1789. Full index.

Egleston, T. The life of John Paterson, major-general in the Revolutionary army; by his great-grandson. N. Y., G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1894. c. 11+293 p. il. O. cl., $2.50. [2156]

The story of Major-General Paterson's life is the story of the Revolutionary War, and includes, besides details of his private life and an account of his efforts to build up the state of Massachusetts and especially his own county of Berkshire and the town of Lenox, chapters on the Continental Congresses and the battle of Bunker Hill, the siege of Boston and the battle of Trenton, the campaign of Valley Forge and Monmouth, Shay's Rebellion, etc. The appendix contains a list of books consulted, about two pages.

Elmslie, Theodora C., [Baynton Foster.] The little lady of Lavender; il. by Edith Scannell and H. L. E. Phil., The American S. S. Union, 1894. 4-320 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [2157]

The little Lady of Lavender was the sobriquet given to Evangeline Herbert, granddaughter of the rector of Lavender. Eva's rescue of Davy the poacher, a notable visit to Captain Ransom, the terror of the country folk, an adventure in a snow-storm, and a trip to London are described, and the quaint little heroine of seven years remains the centre of attraction in a story of English country life.

Gardner, Mrs. S. M. H. The fortunes of Margaret Weld. Bost., Arena Pub. Co.,

1894. c. 3+233 p. D. (Arena lib. ser., no. 37.) pap., 50 c. [2162]
 Margaret Weld is an artist, who at twenty eight loses the fortune left by her father and attempts to earn her living, never hesitating to express her doubts of religion, to demand the same moral law for men and women; recognizing the soul in some fellow-beings she meets, but denying the existence of soul in herself. She is finally redeemed through love. A whole-souled Roman Catholic priest and a lovely Quakeress and her son teach Margaret many lessons.
- *Gould, Joseph. The game of draughts: problems, critical positions, and games containing sections, by Dr. Brown, Messrs. - Helm, Flora. Between two forces: a record of a theory and a passion. Bost., Arena Pub. Co., 1894. c. 2+238 p. D. (Arena lib. ser., no. 38.) pap., 50 c. [2168]
 Cecelia Honerick becomes an inmate of the Rencliffe household and a daily associate of Younod, the son of the house. Shortly after this Cecelia is forced to be a mediator between Rencliffe and her cousin Leitz, when Rencliffe seeks to convince her of her inherent forces, and to use these in testing his psychological theories. Leitz brings about the unexpected ending of a story that deals with the supernatural, and touches on the labor question.
- Hiltzheimer, Jacob. Extracts from the diary of Jacob Hiltzheimer of Philadelphia, 1765-1798; ed. by his great-grandson, Jacob Cox Parsons. Phil., Press of W: F. Fell & Co., 1893 [1894.] 4-269 p. O. cl., $1.50; $2. [2169]
 Jacob Hiltzheimer was born at Mannheim on the Rhine, and in 1748, when nineteen years of age, came to Philadelphia. He soon became apprenticed to John Nagle, a silversmith on Front Street. During the war for independence he stuck by the Colonies. He held very important city positions for many years. He died of yellow fever in 1798. His daily record of thirty years affords evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow-citizens.
- Hobson, J: A. The evolution of modern capitalism: a study of machine production. N. Y., imported by C: Scribner Sons, 1894. 15+388 p. D. (Contemporary science ser.) cl., $1.25. [2170]
 Selecting the operation of modern machinery and motors for special attention, the author has sought to enforce a clearer recognition of organic unity, by dwelling upon the more material aspects of industrial change which mark off the last century and a half from all former industrial epochs. In the final chapters he indicates the chief bearings of the changes of industrial structure upon a few of the deeper issues of social life, in particular upon the problem of the Industrial Town, and the position of woman as an industrial competitor. The keynote of his claim is that "there is always room at the top."

- Hubbard, Elbert. Forbes of Harvard. Bost., Arena Pub. Co., 1894. c. 3+327 p. D. (Arena lib. ser., no. 31.) pap., 50 c. [2175]
 Arthur Ripley Forbes belonged to the class of '52. It is claimed that the accompanying volume is an orderly arrangement of letters selected from a mass of correspondence that fell into the hands of Mr. Forbes' executor after his sad death. These letters bring the reader in touch with many of Col. Forbes' contemporaries. Among the writers of the letters are Edmund Hosmer, Marie Meredith, Honor Harold, who lived in the home of Bronson Alcott, and many other noted Bostonians. Ralph Waldo Emerson is mentioned throughout a correspondence, which is in brief a reflex of the literary, religious, and social life of Boston in the early fifties.
- Hutchison, Joseph C., M.D. Our wonderful bodies and how to take care of them: 2 books. Bk. 1, for primary grades. Bk. 2, for intermediate and grammar grades. N. - The first volume was entered in P. W., "Weekly Record," April 14, [1059.] The arrangement of matter in the work is primarily alphabetical and secondarily chronological. The whole is thoroughly indexed and the index incorporated with the body of the text in same alphabetical order. The editor is now president of the American Library Association, and it is to questions coming to him as a librarian that this stupendous compilation from thousands of volumes owes its origin. It is primarily a work for librarians. The book is a marvel of editorial labor.
- Leavitt, S. Our money wars: the example and warning of American finance. Bost., Arena Pub. Co., 1894. c. 11+319 p. D. (Arena lib. ser., no. 35.) pap., 50 c. [2185]
- In sixteen chapters gives the story of American finance, covering the years from 1600 to 1893. The author quotes the opinions of experts in finance on the various conditions that from time to time, first at longer and recently at shorter intervals, have brought about panics and uncertain markets. Under paragraph headings the vast array of facts are grouped in most condensed manner, making a valuable work of reference—classified chronologically.

- Sawyer, B. F. David and Abigail. Bost., Arena Pub. Co., 1894. c. 3+360 p. D. (Arena lib. ser., no. 33.) pap., 50 c. [2208]
Scene is laid in the south during the exciting political campaign which ended in the election of James Buchanan to the presidency. David is the son of Judge Winston, a proud aristocrat who has fallen hopelessly in debt to Israel Hardie, a working farmer, who has become very rich. To straighten matters the latter offers his daughter Abigail to David in marriage. Upon their first meeting the ceremony takes place. The story tells the consequences.
- Schmoller, Gustav. Idea of justice in political economy. Phil., American Acad. of Political and Social Science, [1894.] 41 p. O. (Publications of the society, no. 113.) pap., 35 c. [2209]
The author explains that the idea of justice has no resting, determined existence on earth. As no penal law, no judge is absolutely just, so no established distribution of property and incomes is altogether just, but every consecutive epoch of mankind has won a higher measure of justice in this field. Great men are those who devote their services to the great moral ideas of humanity, and who on the field of economics succeed in advancing juster institutions. Justice in political economy must always remain relative, but can always be worked for by the positive individual virtues of character and high ideals.

Founded on the series of riots and plotted uprisings of the Poles against the Russians that occurred about 1861-3. The Countess Janina is the Polish wife of a Russian nobleman, who becomes tragically involved in the patriotic conspiracies of her kinsfolk. The scene is Polish or Russian throughout, as are the characters, and the story is an involved succession of plots and counterplots.

- Thompson, R. W. The footprints of the Jesuits. Cin., O., Cranston & Curtis, 1894. c. 509 p. por. O. cl., $1.75. [2220]
The author, who is ex-secretary of the navy, does not criticize or explain the peculiar tenets of the followers of Loyola, but writes wholly as a patriot in the defence of the institutions of his own country and as a statesman in defence of civil liberty everywhere, which he claims is imperilled by the very existence of the Society of Jesus in any land. The Jesuits teach that the state must be reunited with the church as a religious doctrine necessary to salvation, and this, he thinks, preached to ignorant people entrusted with a vote is against the best good of any nation.
- Titterington, Sophie Bronson. A summer brother. Phil., American Baptist Pub. Soc., [1894.] c. 192 p. il. S. cl., 90 c. [2221] of the story, is the son of a drunkard, who tries to redeem his father from the vice of intemperance in accordance with a promise given his dying mother. Although the story conveys a strong lesson for the intemperate its real purpose is to interest readers in the Fresh Air Fund. For this the history of Tommy Riggs' visit to the Thorndale, and the incidents surrounding his adoption by Theodore Thorn as "a summer brother" are told.

Vaughn, Mrs. Kate. Yet she loved him. [Also] Jephtha's daughter, by Julia Magruder; il. by Warren B. Davis. N. Y., Rob. Bonner's Sons, [1894.] c. '90, '94. 4-339 p. D. (Ledger lib., no. 112.) cl., $1.25; pap., 50 c. [2224]

Captain St. John, a scheming Englishman, after making a mésalliance, strives to rid himself of his low-bred wife, that he may marry a woman of rank and fortune. The means he uses to attain this end brings in a series of surprising and tragic incidents with a surprising climax. Included in the volume is a story founded on a well-known episode in Hebrew history.

*Walrond, Dorothy. Mopsie: the story of a London waif. N. Y., T. Nelson & Sons, 1894. 191 p. 12°, cl., 60 c. 2225

Walton, Alice. The cult of Asklepios. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1894. 8+136 p. O. (Cornell studies in classical philology, no. 3.) bds., $1.25. [2226]

No one has yet attempted a general descriptive treatment of the cult as a whole. The author aims to give in narrative form the results obtained by a careful comparison of material from the different localities, and also to show by means of indexes what material is used. The arrangement is topical and as far as possible chronological. Index of allusions to Asklepios and his cult in Greek and Latin inscriptions and one of localities in which the cult is known to have existed. Bibliography (8 p.).

Willis, Oliver R. A practical flora: for schools and colleges. N. Y., American Book Co., [1894.] c. 16+349 p. D. cl., $1.50. 2231

Designed specially to show the practical aspects of the vegetable world and its relation to the needs of every-day life. Includes a careful selection of the most important food producing trees, shrubs, herbs, including ornamental plants, fruits, roots, medicinal plants and those which furnish oils, dyes, lumber, textile fabrics, etc., an account of their geographical range, the origin of their name, their history, and many statistics of economical and commercial interest. Glossary index. The author is instructor in N. Y. Military Academy.

The plot turns upon the trial and conviction of an innocent man for murder. The hero is a young officer in the English army. An innocent young girl, who has become infatuated with him, compromises herself by going to his rooms in barracks to ask his advice in a desperate strait; he reproaches her for her recklessness, and she leaves him in anger, and disappears completely from the scene. There are scenes from stage life and London literary life.

Women's (The) conquest of New York, by A member of the committee of safety of 1908. N. Y., Harper, 1953 [1894.] c. 2+84 p. S. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib.) pap., 25 c. [2234]

The sub-title describes this as "an account of the rise and progress of the Woman's Rights Movement; of the grant of female suffrage; of the formation of the Area League; of the capture by the women voters of the government of the city of New York by the election as mayoress of Bridget O'Dowd; and of the season of female despotism which thereafter ensued, and which was ended by an appeal to primitive natural law." A humorous brochure, showing "that power without strength" is and ever must be an impossibility.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 21, 1894.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING.

THE CIRCULATING LIBRARY.—V.

THOSE adopting the charging system, which we shall describe further on, will affix a dating-slip (about  $3\frac{1}{4} \times 6$  inches) at the end of the volume, on which may be printed the following:

This book may be kept

FOURTEEN DAYS.

Please notice the dates below. A fine of TWO CENTS per day will be imposed for every book kept after the latter date.*

Taken Je. 20 Due Jl. 6
Ta en O. 21 Due N. 4
Re ewed N. 5 Due N. 19

* On the blank portion of the dating-slip should be stamped or written the date on which the book is taken and the date that it is due, also the renewals.

The books chosen, covered, numbered, and shelved may now be catalogued. Whether the catalogue be elaborate and well printed or indifferently made and poorly printed the necessity for having a catalogue will be apparent without much argument. The proprietor of a successful circulating library in a large eastern city once replied to the question whether his experience proved that it was a paying investment to circulate elaborate catalogues: "It is as essential to have printed first-class catalogues for a library as it is to have shelves for the books. Every three years I expend about three hundred dollars on catalogues, and I would not do so if it did not pay me. I get a first-class advertisement into the homes of the best reading people in my neighborhood, and the advantage of it all is, that my advertisement is always there. In this catalogue I have four pages of advertisements booming my stationery and retail book business."

His catalogue, of some 4000 volumes, is a neat twelvemo of about ninety pages, printed from moderately large type on eighty-pound paper. An edition of 5000 copies costs him, he claims, about $300, once every three years. Every fall and spring he distributes about 1000 copies among the residents in the locality of his business. Four of his catalogues he has bound in good flexible binding for reference in the library. From time to time—perhaps once a year, certainly at a no longer interval—the accessions should be issued as a supplement to the catalogue. The catalogue should be carefully made and condensed so as to bring each title and number within one line. Though this may seem a difficult matter to the beginner a study of catalogues and a little experience will prove the practicability of such a course.

As to the terms of loaning books, it seems to be that two cents per day or ten cents per week is the average rate. Some, at one time or another anxious to offer extra inducements to prospective subscribers, adopt a season-ticket method, but are certain in time to discard it, because such a system leads to abuses, and will be found less remunerative than the daily or weekly rate. There seems, however, to be quite a diversity of opinion in regard to lending books with or without a deposit. The majority of those who have tried both methods we find, as a rule, adhere to the latter, but reserve the right to enforce the deposit rule where parties live at a distance or appear not to be responsible. We suppose that with the best of care some losses will occur, but with ordinary precaution the percentage need not be greater than in other lines of business. The librarian should strictly adhere to the rule to look over the slips of books loaned every week, to make a list of all the delinquent borrowers and to send postals asking immediate return of all books kept out longer than the time specified. After waiting another week a messenger should be sent in search for the books not returned.

System and care in this particular will save trouble and loss. The librarian should have a tolerably good acquaintance with his borrowers, and so be able to decide which of them need watching and which do not. If he is a judge of human nature, he will, as a rule, probably have little difficulty, and very rarely lose a book. Experience will teach that where books are loaned without a deposit, it is not policy to pay high prices for them, except in rare cases. Of course, new books must be paid for at regular wholesale rates, but very often there can be found in the second-hand book-stores of large cities serviceable books at one-third or one-fourth the cost of new ones.

THE TRADE LIST ANNUAL is in active preparation, and we call special attention once more to the necessity for at once shipping the catalogues to be included, and sending orders for the volume as soon as possible. The ANNUAL promises to be more representative than ever before, and all that we can add to make it wholly useful throughout the year will be found in its pages. Booksellers throughout the country urge the importance of getting their copies at the very beginning of Fall trade. We respectfully submit their request to the publishers, on whose promptness all our work depends.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

DECISION in the suit of Harper & Brothers vs. Edgar S. Werner: Judge Lincoln, in the United States Circuit Court, issued a perpetual injunction restraining Edgar S. Werner from publishing extracts from or infringing on the copyright held by General Lew Wallace on "Ben-Hur: a tale of the Christ."

Mr. Werner, in answering the complaint, made some very novel statements regarding his ideas of the original authorship of "Ben-Hur." He stated that he never heard of Harper & Brothers, who published "Ben-Hur," and that he thought some one other than General Wallace originated the character of "Ben-Hur." Judge Lacombe's decision lawfully establishes that General Wallace did create "Ben-Hur."

A NEW ORDER AS TO SECOND-CLASS MAIL.

It has been the practice of some publishers of trade and other publications of the second-class to send by mail, at pound rates, copies of their publications addressed to delegates to the conventions of various trades and professions that are frequently held at points convenient for that purpose.

The Post-Office Department has decided that such copies not being sent out in fulfilment of subscriptions and not coming within the definition of sample copies, as given by the postal laws and regulations, are subject to the four-ounce rate of postage, which must be prepaid by stamps affixed.

THE AFFAIRS OF THE TROW PRINTING COMPANY.

ABOUT forty of the preferred stockholders of the Trow Directory Printing and Bookbinding Co., of New York City, met at the Astor House on the 10th inst., to protest against the alleged mismanagement of the company's affairs. The meeting was called by Howard J. Forker, R. W. Gibson and Philip Hathaway. Mr. Hathaway advocated an investigation into affairs, and declared that the company's expenses had increased from $50,000 to $70,000 a year, while the annual profits had decreased from $90,000 to almost nothing. It was also said that the officers of the company all drew excessive salaries and returned practically no service for them. The officers were not represented at the meeting, but Mr. Hopkins, the treasurer, sent a letter which was read and ridiculed. In it he said the officers of the company courted the fullest investigation by the stockholders. Messrs. Forker, Gibson, and Hathaway were appointed a committee of investigation, and they were given proxies by all the stockholders present.

The annual meeting of the Trow Directory Printing and Bookbinding Company was held in Jersey City, on July 17, because the company is incorporated under the laws of New Jersey. S. V. White was selected to preside and W. H. Bates was chosen secretary. Fifty-eight men and two women attended the meeting, representing all the 15,000 shares of stock.

Robert W. Smith, president of the company, submitted a report showing that the concern is rapidly getting out of the difficulties in which it was involved by the failure of the United States Book Company, which was a debtor of the Trow Company to the extent of $200,000. He admitted that it had been necessary to pass six quarterly dividends, but the debt of the concern has been reduced $60,000 and the floating liabilities do not exceed $7500.

Franklin W. Hopkins, treasurer, submitted a similar report, but could not give financial statistics, as the fiscal year does not close until July 31. These will be submitted at a meeting to be held on August 28. Mr. Hopkins called attention to the malicious attacks which had been made upon the company and its management, and asked that a committee be appointed to investigate the company's affairs. After some discussion he offered a resolution that Howard J. Forker, Philip Hathaway, Robert W. Gibson, Sidell Tilghmann, and S. V. White be appointed a committee to investigate the company's affairs in accordance with the suggestion made in his report. An amendment that the committee be empowered to employ experts if necessary was accepted.

A resolution was adopted instructing the board of directors to investigate from whence the injurious statement recently published had emanated, and if it came from a person actuated by malice the directors were instructed to prosecute the offender. The resolution is aimed at ex-treasurer Lange, who, it is intimated, has fomented all the trouble.

The treasurer of the Trow Company prior to 1892 was Edward Lange, and he was also treasurer of the Book Company. The directors passed a resolution giving the United States Book Company credit up to $100,000, and Lange, without authority, extended it to $165,000. The Trow Company's directors then fixed the limit at $165,000, and ordered that no more credit should be given, but Lange permitted the Book Company to pile up its indebtedness until it reached $200,000. It was then that the crash came. The directors of the Trow Company removed Lange. Then the Book Company failed to meet its notes and went into the hands of a receiver. This embarrassed the Trow Company and was the cause of all the trouble. It is alleged that Lange has fomented the present opposition to the company, and that he is backed by W. C. Taylor, Philip Hathaway, and a few other stockholders.

Mr. Hathaway asked some leading questions which were answered satisfactorily. The salary list has been reduced and also the running expenses as far as possible. Before the discussion closed nearly everybody was satisfied.

Mr. Niemann, who was in the opposition, presented this preamble and resolution:

WHEREAS, Certain statements injurious to this company purporting to emanate from certain stockholders have lately been given wide publicity, and appear to be false and unfounded;

Resolved, That the board of directors investigate all such statements, with a view to ascertaining their origin, and particularly whether they emanated from any competitor of this company, or from any person formerly connected with its management, and that if such statements or any of them be deemed malicious it shall be the duty of the board of directors to take all proper steps to hold the guilty parties to a strict legal accountability.

Chairman White and others objected to the resolution, suggesting that it might have the effect of disturbing the existing harmony, but it was adopted. The present directors were re-elected, receiving 13,651 votes. They are Robert W. Smith, William H. Bates, Franklin W. Hopkins, G. P. Morosini, M. R. Lawrence, S. D. Page, and E. M. Barnes.

There was an opposition ticket, but it received only 1,196 votes.

It had been fully expected that there would be much disagreeable feeling manifested at this meeting, but the officers were so courteous and so willing to impart desired information, that all ended most satisfactorily.

The original Trow concern was founded in 1786, and it is one of the oldest established business enterprises in America, and one that has always been more or less directly connected with the publishing trade of New York. Its monopoly of printing the city directory for the metropolis, which its experience and plant have assured against all competitors, is very valuable. Three years ago the company that preceded the present organization was, in Wall Street parlance, "promoted" into a stock company.

The prospectus was issued July 14, 1891. The promoters were Horace K. Thurber, Edward Lange, and Robert W. Smith. There were 2500 shares of common stock and 7500 shares cumulative preferred stock on which was guaranteed 8 per cent. interest each issue, representing $750,000, so that the whole stock was $1,500,000. The prospectus was worded in the most effective style of the accomplished advertisement writer, but through a layer of conservatism shone a faint glow that proved very attractive to the persons open at that time to inducements to invest. The present officers are: President, R. W. Smith; vice-president, S. D. Page; treasurer, F. W. Hopkins, and secretary, W. H. Bates.

ANNUAL MEETING OF NORTHWESTERN BOOKSELLERS' AND NEWS-DEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE third annual meeting of the Northwestern Booksellers' and Newsdealers' Association met at the West Hotel in Minneapolis, Minn., July 10, at 2 P.M.

President McNie opened the meeting.

The reading of minutes of last annual meeting was dispensed with, as they had been printed and were in the hands of the members, and on motion, they were properly approved. Mr. Raymer, in reviewing the past work of the Association, spoke of the difficulties of getting up the "Handbook;" also the great trouble he had had with the work of the Association in the continual demand of the trade to know how they are to be individually benefited by the Association. The next order of business was the reception of application for membership; twenty-three members were voted in. Several communications from booksellers, newsdealers, and publishers were read, acted upon, and properly disposed of. The treasurer's and secretary's reports show amount received for admission fees and dues, $78.90; from other sources, $122; expenditure, $150.85; showing a balance in the treasury, $50.05. Several interesting discussions took place, and the following resolutions were presented:

WHEREAS, Many of the leading publishing houses of the country are adopting the practice of not only selling direct to retail customers, but also giving a discount which the bookseller cannot afford to meet, thus cutting into the local trade to such an extent as to seriously interfere with the business of, and in some cases to drive out, the local dealer;

Therefore, be it Resolved, That the secretary be instructed to ascertain, as far as possible, the names of the violators of this trade courtesy and take such steps in the matter as the board of directors may advise.

WHEREAS, Nearly all of the publishers of the United States are now publishing copyright books at the same price as they were fifteen years ago, when in this day and time, it is a well known fact, that the cost of production has been materially reduced, and that the public cannot be convinced that a copyright makes a book worth fifty per cent. more, and cannot see why books should not be reduced the same as all other articles of merchandise, and that in this matter the retail dealer must suffer, inasmuch as he must give such discounts on copyright books as to make it next to impossible to make even a small profit on such stocks;

Therefore, be it Resolved, That it is the sense of this Association that the prices on copyright books are extortionate, and the secretary is hereby instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the publishers, request an answer and opinions, to act upon by the board of directors.

The committee on resolutions offered the following:

WHEREAS, Many newspapers, story-papers, and magazines are using the "coupon scheme" for increasing their circulation, using in many instances books for that purpose, which is in direct competition with the booksellers and newsdealers, and entirely out of reason, on the part of the periodical publishers;

Therefore, be it Resolved, That the Northwestern Booksellers' and Newsdealers' Association, in annual meeting assembled, do hereby express themselves as disproving all such schemes, and ask the publishers to discontinue the same and ask the members of the Association, and book and news trade in general, to assist in regulating such matters, and advertisers in all branches of business to stand by the book and news trade in this matter.

WHEREAS, Many of the publishers of periodicals are offering such "club rates" as to bring the prices as low as wholesale prices, to consumers of their magazines, and in some cases even less, and in many ways abusing the business already worked up for them by the news trade, by canvassing his territory with club and premium offers for yearly subscriptions, thus cutting into the trade that the newsdealers have worked up for periodicals.

Therefore, be it Resolved, That this Association do hereby express their disfavor of all such schemes and ask the publishers to discontinue the same and the books and news trade to watch such schemes and report them to the secretary of the Association, who is instructed to lay the matter before the grievance committee for action.

The secretary presented a sample page from the account and receipt book of the Thoms' News Depot, of Mankato, Minn., which, after having been passed around among members, was highly recommended as being a handy and neat scheme for keeping periodical accounts.

The next business was the election of officers, which read in the following: Alex. McNie, of Winona, president; F. W. Iddings, of Grand Forks, N. Dak., vice-president; Chas. D. Raymer, of Minneapolis, Minn., secretary; Geo. W. Sayre, of Minneapolis, Minn., treasurer.

Board of Directors: Ed. Ackerman, of New York; C. E. Musser, Mankato; A. Isaacson, St. Paul, Minn.; N. McCarthy, E. P. Parcher, C. D. Whitall, and S. M. Williams, Minneapolis.

Chas. D. Raymer, Minneapolis; D. D. Merrill, St. Paul; and E. E. Farnsworth, Winfield, Kan., were elected to act as a grievance committee.

The following were appointed as delegates to attend the meeting of the National Association of Newsdealers, Booksellers, and Stationers of the United States, which meets in New York August 15: Chas. D. Raymer, C. D. Whitall, S. M. Williams, Minneapolis; Alex. McNie, Winona; F. W. Iddings, Grand Forks.

After which the Association adjourned to meet at call of board of directors.

THE CAMPBELL WALL PAPER COMPANY JOIN THE NATIONAL WALL PAPER COMPANY.

THE National Wall Paper Company, which is in almost entire possession of the wall-paper business, was organized two years ago as a New York corporation. It is capitalized at $38,000,000. The Campbell Company occupied a mammoth establishment at 540 West Forty-second Street until last summer, when it was burned out, and it now has a factory at the foot of West Twenty-fourth Street. For two years it has absolutely refused to join the National Paper Company, and some brilliant offer must have been made to make it change its position. The details of the transaction are not given. The retirement of the Campbell Company will influence the wall-paper business throughout the country.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE REX GRAHAM.

GEORGE REX GRAHAM, the founder of Graham's Magazine, died on the 13th inst., in the Orange Memorial Hospital, Orange, N. J., of which he had been an inmate for five years. Mr. Graham was born in Philadelphia, January 18, 1813, and when a boy learned the trade of a cabinet-maker. Devoting his spare hours to study he qualified himself for the bar, and subsequently became the editor of the Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia. In 1841 he united The Gentlemen's Magazine and Atkinson's Casket and formed Graham's Magazine, which for many years thereafter was known as the best magazine of its kind published in the United States. Under his management the magazine attained a very large circulation. Its contributors included William Cullen Bryant, James Fenimore Cooper, Edgar Allan Poe, Bayard Taylor, Henry W. Longfellow, James Russell Lowell, John G. Saxe, E. P. Whipple, William Devoe, Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, N. P. Willis, Thomas Dunn English, and others. Charles J. Peterson was associated with Mr. Graham for a while, but withdrew to start Peterson's Magazine. So much prosperity attended Graham's Magazine that its proprietor was induced to extend his sphere as a publisher. He accordingly purchased, in 1846-7, The Philadelphia North American and The United States Gazette, two rather languishing publications, and merged the two in one strong publication. Mr. Graham became so prosperous that he was known as a capitalist worth a quarter of a million dollars at least. It was just here that Mr. Graham's prosperity culminated. He disposed of his interest in The North American and entered into stock speculations, and it was not very long before the literary man was inveigled into a bogus stock operation in which he lost nearly everything. Soon afterward he came to New York and continued his financial misfortunes in Wall Street. Then he went to Newark, N. J., where he became editor of The Newark Journal, which he continued to conduct until failing eyesight and health compelled him to desist from all work. At one time he became quite blind from cataracts on both eyes. These were removed by skillful operation in the New York Ophthalmic Hospital, but he had not of late years been able to do much work with his pen, and had remained dependent somewhat upon the kind offices of his former partner, Charles J. Peterson, who was liberally assisted by the late George W. Childs. Longfellow's "The Spanish Student" appeared for the first time in the pages of Graham's Magazine; "Nuremburg" appeared in June, 1844. Other important contributions to it were "Childhood," "Belfry of Burges," "The Arsenal at Springfield," and "Dante's Divina Commedia," which was published in June, 1850. Poe contributed "The Murders of the Rue Morgue," "Orion," "Dreamland," "To Helen," "Israfel," "A Few Words About Brainard," "Life in Death," and "The Canker Worm." Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Twice-Told Tales" and "The Earth's Holocaust" appeared in May, 1844.

SIR AUSTEN HENRY LAYARD, the famous explorer and archæologist, died in London on the 5th inst., aged 77 years. Among his writings are "Nineveh and Its Remains," "Monuments of Nineveh," and an edition of Kugler's "History of Italian Painting."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Public Opinion has just sent out an attractive plate containing the portraits of over fifty of its principal contributors—nearly all of them being men now prominent in American letters.

OCTAVE UZANNE has prepared for the August Scribner a paper entitled "The End of Books: a bibliophile's look into the future." It will be accompanied by illustrations by A. Robida.

McClure's Magazine for August has among its attractions "My First Book," by A. Conan Doyle, and a criticism of Professor Drummond's "Ascent of Man," by Washington Gladden. The "human documents" of this issue are a series of portraits of Louise Chandler Moulton and James A. Garfield.

THE issue of The Independent for August 2, will be the Educational Number. The Independent has for some time followed the plan of taking up for the first issue of every month an important timely subject, and treating it exhaustively by means of articles from writers acknowledged as authorities on the subject in hand.

Godey's Magazine for July contains an article on "The Authors' Club," by Gilson Willetts—showing portraits of Richard Watson Gilder, William Dean Howells, H. H. Boyesen, Arthur Sherburne Hardy, Alexander Black, Duffield Osborne, Daniel Greenleaf Thompson, Rossiter Johnson, Julius Chambers, W. J. Henderson, Allan J. Conant, Hamilton W. Mabie, Parke Godwin, and Theodore L. De Vinne.

The Nineteenth Century (Leonard Scott Publishing Co.) for July has an article by Frederic Harrison on "The Centenary of Edward Gibbon," describing "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" as the most perfect book that English prose (outside its fiction) possesses, meaning by "book" a work perfect in design, symmetrical, complete, final, and executed from beginning to end with the same mastery in one uniform plan.

OUR old, and otherwise reliable friend, the Beacon, of Boston, nods when it says the Chap Book is a children's periodical, not the advertising medium of some new kind of salve, as might be supposed." The Chap Book, though young, is not by any means a children's periodical as those will find who will take the trouble to send to Stone & Kimball, of Cambridge, Mass., for a sample copy. They will find it a bright and clever little journal, a sort of literary free lance, for persons of the highest culture.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

The Book-Lover's Leaflet is the title of a new four-page circular issued by Harry Gregory, 167 Westminster St., Providence, R. I., describing in attractive paragraphs the old and new books for sale by him.

THE Quarterly Bulletin of the Boston Public Library, dated July, 1894, contains a timely bibliography of works on Hygiene—personal and public; also, a continuation of the third and enlarged edition of "A Chronological Index to Historical Fiction," and a fac-simile of the Freeman's oath, with an explanation and transcription. (New ser., v. 5, no. 2, 52-192 p. + pl. subs. $1 per year.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

CHATTO & WINDUS will publish a translation by Ernest Vizetelly, of Zola's "Lourdes," which is just ready in France.

THE ALDINE CLUB opened its new club-house at 75 Fifth Avenue, New York, on the evening of the 12th inst., by tendering an informal reception and housewarming to its members and friends.

T. Y. CROWELL & Co. have in press a complete edition of the poetical works of Sir Walter Scott, in two volumes, illustrated, with an introduction by Professor Charles Eliot Norton, of Harvard.

THE AMERICAN BOOK CO. has issued a series of six books of "The American System of Vertical writing," a style of penmanship which is rapidly becoming popular. The series retails for $1 per dozen.

THE STERLING PUBLISHING CO., New York City, has just arranged with Mr. Henry George for the exclusive publication of his works in the United States. This company reports that it has sold over ten thousand copies of "Progress and Poverty" within ten days after publication.

FREDERICK WARNE & Co. announce that, as the delay in printing the "Royal Natural History" was greater than anticipated, they have determined to postpone the publication of No. 1 until September 1st, to be followed at regular monthly intervals by the other numbers, as announced.

THE most striking article in vol. XXXIX. of Sidney Lee's "Dictionary of National Biography" (Macmillan) is that on the late Henry Morley, whose death occurred on May 14. No such prompt inclusion of a recently deceased author has, we think, been shown before in the progress of this great work.

ANOTHER yellow-and-black-backer, also issued by Elkin Mathews and John Lane, is Allan Monkhouse's "Books and Plays." It consists of seven critical essays on such subjects as George Meredith's Plays and Poems, George Borrow, Ibsen's Social Plays, and the Politics of Dramatic Art. The edition is limited to 400 copies.

MR. AKSEL G. S. JOSEPHSON, former antiquarian bookseller in Uppsala, Sweden, now of the Lenox Library, New York City, is working up a list of Swedish books for American libraries. The list will contain books of standard authors, books on Swedish history—political, social, and literary—and religious works, and will not exceed 500 titles.

THE Congregational Sunday-School and Publishing Society, Boston, have in press a "Comprehensive Concordance to the Holy Scriptures," by the Rev. J. B. R. Walker, with an introduction by M. C. Hazard. The concordance will be in one alphabet for all words including proper names and appellatives, and will be based on the authorized version.

A BUST of Keats was unveiled in Hampstead Church on July 16, by F. H. Day, secretary of the American Memorial Committee. Edmund Gosse replied to Mr. Day's explanation of the movement to place the bust in the church. He read a letter from Swinburne and a sonnet by Theodore Watts; and Lord Houghton, Sidney Colvin, and F. T. Palgrave spoke.

MACMILLAN & Co. will publish shortly a small volume on "The Unemployed," by Geoffrey Drage, the secretary to the Labor Commission of England. After a general introduction, Mr. Drage deals with what has hitherto been done to solve the problem of the unemployed of England, with the nature and causes of the present distress, and with what may be done in the future.

T. FISHER UNWIN will shortly publish S. R. Crockett's new story, "Mad Sir Ughtred of the Hills." About one-third of it has already appeared in the St. James' Gazette. Mr. Unwin has also made arrangements to publish Mr. Crockett's novel "The Lilac Sun Bonnet" on September 15, and the biography of the late Charles Bradlaugh, upon which Mrs. Bradlaugh Bonner and Mr. J. M. Robertson are engaged.

H. LE SOUDIER, Paris, has just issued a third edition of Léon Clédar's "Grammaire Raisonnée de la Langue Française," in which the learned and witty author convincingly sets forth the reasons for some of the most unaccountable rules for speaking and writing the French language correctly. He does not desire his pupils to learn by rote but to investigate and understand the history of language and see for themselves the logic of present methods.

THE "Handbook of the Northwestern Booksellers' and Newsdealers' Association" has been issued as the June number of The Literary Light of Minneapolis. The Handbook contains a history of the association together with reports of its annual meetings, and those of the Virginia, Alabama, and National Associations. Portraits are given of F. Leypoldt, Alex. McNie, Charles D. Raymer, L. Swift, Jr., J. S. McClain, C. B. Swift, and E. C. Rahme, some of which are accompanied by biographical sketches. A number of "Hints for Booksellers" and trade advertisements make the handbook present an ambitious pamphlet of twenty-five 12mo pages.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will publish shortly "Lessons in the New Geography," by Professor Spencer Trotter, of Swarthmore College, Pennsylvania. By the "New Geography," the author means that the point of view of this subject is essentially human. His idea is that as the earth is the theatre of human action, the study of geography is the study of human life under the varied conditions of existence imposed by the different regions of the earth. The book aims to fulfil two phases of the study, the human and the imaginative. Its purpose is to present an outline sketch, suggestive and stimulating, and it is intended as a reader to supplement the regular work of the teacher and the class.

THE HOLDEN PATENT BOOK COVER CO. call the attention of the trade to their several devices for the protection and preservation of books, e.g., their "patent book-cover," "self-binder," and "transparent paper." The book-cover, which has been adopted by the leading States coming under the free text-book law, is made of a species of felt paper, in imitation of leather, possessing much durability and strength; it is easily adjustable and comes in three sizes for ordinary books, with special fitted sizes for school geographies. The binders are small squares of binders' linen covered with binders' glue, forming a simple and effective method of repairing loosened leaves; while the adhesive transparent paper is used to repair torn leaves without destroying their legibility.

WARD, LOCK & BOWDEN have recently brought suit in this city against the Funk & Wagnalls Co., Adam W. Wagnalls and Robert J. Cuddhy, to rescind a sale made by the plaintiffs to Cuddhy of 4338 sets of "Commentaries," on the ground of fraudulent representations on the part of Cuddhy and the Funk & Wagnalls Co., and to recover $20,000 damages for the alleged frauds. The plaintiffs allege that at the time of the sale Cuddhy claimed to be acting for himself, while he was in fact an agent for the Funk & Wagnalls Co., and that his representations of security for the purchase were fraudulent. The defendants deny the allegations in toto, and say that Cuddhy acted for himself and then sold the books to Funk & Wagnalls Co. Several questions as to the validity of Western stock and banking deposit certificates are involved, and on July 5 the plaintiffs applied for an open commission to take the testimony of bank officials in South Dakota. Judge Andrews reserved decision on the point.

A. & C. BLACK, Edinburgh, propose to publish a new "Dictionary of the Bible" before the end of 1896. The work was originally planned by the late Prof. Robertson Smith, who hoped nearly to the last that he might be able to take a leading part in its preparation. Last February, finding that Prof. Cheyne agreed with him as to the nature of the book that was wanted, he transferred his share in the editorial management to him, the co-editor being Prof. Robertson Smith's old friend and associate in the work of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," Dr. J. Sutherland Black. The new dictionary will not, however, be without contributions from the late Prof. Robertson Smith, many of whose articles in the "Encyclopædia" will probably be incorporated in it, after they have been revised by personal friends. Besides a number of English scholars, some other well-known foreign specialists will be represented, including Profs. Nöldeke, Tiele, Stade, Wellhausen, Kautsch, Budde, Spitta, and Jülicher, with Profs. Francis Brown, G. F. Moore, and Toy, to represent the United States.

C. J. CLAY & SONS, London, will issue early in October the first volume of a complete translation of "The Jataka," rendered into English from the original Pali, under the superintendence of Prof. E. B. Cowell, of Cambridge, by various scholars and students of Hindu folklore. The Pali "Jataka," or "Buddha birth-stories," are supposed to be the oldest collection of folk-tales in existence; not only are they of interest and importance to students of folk-lore, but they form a panorama of Hindu life before the Christian era, and are thus of great value as illustrating the manners and customs of ancient India. The first volume has been translated by Robert Chalmers, of Oxford, and will contain the forty stories given in Prof. Rhys Davids' discontinued translation, as well as the translation of the remainder of Prof. Fausboll's edition of the Pali text. The second volume will be translated by W. H. D. Rouse, of Oxford, and the third by R. A. Neil, Oxford lecturer in Sanskrit, and H. T. Francis, under-librarian of Cambridge University library; the translators of the other volumes are not yet announced. The entire work will appear in seven or eight royal octavo volumes. The Clays have just published "Ancient Ships," by Cecil Torr, M.A., an exhaustive treatise on the varied types and characters of ancient vessels.

SOCIAL EVOLUTION.

By BENJAMIN KIDD. 8vo, cloth, $1.75.

"There is scarcely a page in Mr. Kidd's book which is not full of suggestion regarding the social problem of our time, and it is not a little comforting in the battle and turmoil, the running hither and thither of the age when we scarce possess our souls before we die," to find a writer who calmly applies the most recent doctrines of science to modern society and life, and who is yet able to say that the future is hopeful and the prospect fair."—Observer, London.

"A book notable alike for originality and breadth, philosophical reasoning and literary attractiveness."—Chautauquan.

"The volume . . . owes much of its success to its noble tone, its clear and delightful style, and to the very great pleasure the reader experiences as he is conducted through the strong, dignified, and courteous discussion. From a scientific point of view it is the most important contribution recently made to biological sociology."—Independent.

"Never before has the Art of Taxidermy had its practical methods and beauties portrayed as we find them interpreted in this work."

DAVIE'S Methods in the Art of Taxidermy

In one 4to vol., silk cloth, gilt top, uncut edges, $10.00.

Containing ninety full-page engravings, over five hundred figures minutely illustrating the most practical methods practiced in the art. It teaches in detail, step by step, the skinning and stuffing of birds, mammals, crustaceans, fishes, and reptiles, together with illustrations of forms and attitudes of the animal kingdom. The text is by Oliver Davie, who has made Taxidermy his life study and profession. The originals of the illustrations were made in India ink from time to time as the actual subjects could be obtained from which to make the various procedures. They were drawn by the eminent bird and mammal artist, Theodore Jasper, A.M., M.D., whose experience in the Art of Taxidermy extends over a period of fifty years. Every illustration by this artist is a work of art. Among these engravings are included reproductions from photographs of actual work by American Taxidermists.

We have just published this great work and offer it the trade at a liberal discount.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL

For 1894 (Twenty-Second Year).

Large 8vo. With Duplex Index.

The Trade List Annual for 1894 will contain:

1. The latest CATALOGUES OF AMERICAN PUBLISHERS, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume.
2. A complete list by author, title and subject of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY from January to June, 1894, supplementing the ANNUAL CATALOGUE, 1893.
3. The "EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE" for 1894, which is used by the entire trade and educational interests as the most representative reference-list of School-books.

The above Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books.

The patent "DUPLEX INDEX" having given such general satisfaction, we are now applying it to all copies of the "Annual." Volumes supplied with the "DUPLEX INDEX" have the alphabet printed on the concave surface as well as on the margin of the page, which enables instantaneous reference, whether the book is open or shut.

Only those subscribing and forwarding amount now are entitled to subscription rate of $1.50; after publication day, and on orders for which we have to collect after that date, the regular price will be $2.00 net.

Remittances should be made by Check, Money Order on New York or Registered Letter, as we cannot be responsible for any losses. Receipt for remittance will be sent by return mail.

 Unless special shipping directions are received, copies ready for delivery will be despatched by express unpaid. Parties so desiring can have their copies sent by mail, or by prepaid book-rate express for 96 cents per copy extra. Address
